

EXECUTIVE REPORT – HEALTH AND SAFETY COORDINATOR

Nov 21, 2018

Greetings,

As the employee co chair of the Joint Occupational Health and Safety (JOSH) committee, I have recently began to more clearly understand my role. It is a big responsibility and a very important committee to be a part of, and I take that role very seriously. That being said, there is still much to learn and I am on that track.

I first came into a role on the committee as a member who saw a great need for improvements in the health and safety at the college. Having been injured numerous times myself, I sought to ensure that changes could be made to alleviate incidences, both for me and any other member at the college.

I have had the opportunity to receive training and for that I am grateful, but with that comes the responsibility to implement gained knowledge. Things have changed for me as a result of the training I have taken. Additionally things have changed as a result of being part of committees.

I can personally attest to the positive changes being made as a result of that committee existing and it functioning. There is still much work to done. We are on the right track and will keep moving forward. I am dedicated to the membership and to the college community as a whole in regards to health and safety. I will strive for improvements for the duration of my term in that position.

In Solidarity
Shane Johnson